What is Title I?

Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (ESEA) is a federal program that provides school-wide support to Stevenson and Carson Elementary Schools. On December 10, 2015 the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) was signed into law. This measure reauthorizes the 50-year-old Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), the nation's national education law and longstanding commitment to equal opportunity for all students. The new law builds on key areas of progress in recent years, made possible by the efforts of educators, communities, parents, and students across the country.

Title I is a federally funded program that provides resources to further the achievement of all students by providing support for their unique educational needs. The goal of Title I, Part A is to ensure that all children have the opportunity to obtain a high quality education and reach proficiency on challenging state academic standards and assessments. To this end, Title I provides a network of supplemental services for students, and serves as a vital link in the challenging educational opportunities for our students.

What is Learning Assistance Program (LAP)?

LAP is a state-funded program that offers supplemental services for our students scoring below grade-level standard in English language arts (ELA) and mathematics. These services focus on accelerating student growth to make progress towards grade level. The intent is for LAP students to increase academic growth during the period of time they are provided services. LAP emphasizes research-based best practices designed to increase student achievement.

Our mission at Stevenson-Carson School District is to provide an effective education for all children. We understand that students do not come to us as 'one size fits all' learners, and have different learning styles and rates. All Stevenson and Carson Elementary students will receive 90 minutes of core instruction. All eligible students will get an additional 30 minutes in the afternoon known as +30.

Stevenson and Carson Elementary Schools use a model of instruction delivery called Response to Intervention, more commonly referred to as "RTI".

What is Response to Intervention” (RTI)?

The RTI process is a multi-step approach to monitor’s a student’s "response to intervention". The key components to any RTI system are (1) providing high quality intervention matched to student needs, (2) regular progress monitoring and (3) make important educational decisions based on a student’s skill level and rate of learning.
Is RTI the same from school to school? No. Every school is unique - its staff, its programs, its students... therefore, RTI, will be different in each school. However, the basic principles will be the same. Stevenson Elementary and Carson Elementary are working together in all academic areas. Our RTI may not look exactly the same; however, the differences will be because of the learning goals. The primary job of a Preschool—2nd grade school is to "learn to read" and the focus of a 3rd—6th grade school is teaching kids to "read to learn".

RTI is a three tier model: The RTI process is generally defined as a three-tier model of school supports that uses research-based academic and/or behavior interventions. At Stevenson Elementary, we are currently only implementing RTI in the academic area of reading. At all stages of the process, RTI should focus on discovering how to make the student more successful rather than focusing on the student's lack of success. Carson Elementary School focuses on literacy interventions, but also provides RTI support in math.

Our three-tier RTI model includes:

Core: Students at this level are reading at grade level, making adequate growth, and are projected to meet or exceed expectations on a variety of assessments. The core students make up the majority of our student population and will continue to receive the reading instruction that is aligned to the state adopted Common Core State Standards. Our "core program" continues to be CKLA.

Strategic: Students at this level are not making adequate progress in the regular classroom and are provided with an additional thirty minutes of instruction in reading. These services are provided in addition to instruction in the general curriculum. These interventions are provided in small group settings. (These groups are currently between 3 and 6 students.) Students in "strategic" groups will have progress monitoring every four weeks. If your child is in a "strategic" group, you will hear your child talk about his/her "walk to read" teacher. Your child's teacher will also tell you about this intervention in written communication, a phone call, or during a conference.

Intensive: Students at this level are not reading at grade level. Students at this level need an intensive supplementary reading program - taught in a small group setting. Students in this group will receive a 90-minute reading lesson and will also receive an additional skill lesson, in a small group setting, for 30 minutes. With the implementation of RTI, our staff will be able to provide these students intensive reading instruction and weekly progress monitoring in a group of five students or less. Additional supplemental support, STARS — Striving To Achieve Reading Success, may be provided to second grade students. STARS provides extra opportunities for eligible students to process and practice literacy skills that are being taught in their core classroom.
If you have questions about your child’s current reading level or about how we are teaching your child to read . . . or any question about your child’s education at SES . . . please contact your child’s teacher. It is our goal to keep you informed of changes within your child’s reading ability and of instructional changes. You may receive communication from school in a variety of ways: phone, e-mail, regular mail, a note brought home by your child or a certificate that has been awarded to your child. It is our goal to keep you informed.

School / Family Partnerships

Over thirty years of research has proven the positive connection between family involvement and student success. Effectively engaging parents in the education of their children has the potential to be far more transformational than any other type of educational reform. Family involvement can be defined in a broad manner. We view it as a continuum of opportunities in which families may choose to participate in order to support their children’s education. Schools and teachers are eager to provide parents with concrete and practical suggestions for how they can support their child’s education at home. These opportunities may range from communicating with your children about the importance of education and providing a time for homework, to becoming partners in the decision-making process at the school, district, or state level. Research has shown that the following successes have been found through an effective family involvement model:

- Students perform better academically and have fewer discipline problems
- Students have better attendance and homework completion
- Students have positive attitudes toward school, graduation rates are higher, and they are more apt to enroll in college or vocational institutes
- Students become more responsible adults
- Parents become more knowledgeable of how to support and encourage their children
- Parents understand the curriculum and what their children are learning in school
- Parents discuss their children’s school activities, class work, and homework more frequently
- Teachers and administrators recognize the importance of parents in motivating and reinforcing student learning
- Teachers provide interactive homework assignments for families and children to do together

Parent & Family engagement is an important aspect of Title I. As a family, you can influence your child’s success in school. We encourage you to be actively involved in your child’s education. The Parent & Family Policy/Plan for Stevenson and Carson Elementary Schools was jointly developed with family participation and to meet the combined needs of families, students, and the school.
You can become more involved in your child’s education by:

- Participating in the Stevenson-Carson Educational Foundation
- Supporting our school’s extra-curricular activities.
- Volunteering at our school
- Keeping your child’s teacher informed about events in your child’s life that may affect his/her performance at school
- Attending Parent/Teacher Conferences
- Communicating with your child’s teacher by phone, email, or notes

Student/Teacher/Parent Compact

Each Title I school develops a School Parent Compact. Stevenson and Carson Elementary School staff and administrators commit to communicating your child’s achievement goals, schedule parent meetings at convenient times, use your suggestions to improve to improve family participation, and home-school partnership. The compact is jointly developed and annually reviewed with Stevenson and Carson Elementary School families, teachers and students.

What is a compact?

A compact is a written statement of what schools and parents are supposed to do to help student achieve. Each school that receives Title I money must have a compact. (Title I is a federal aid program that provides extra education services for children who are behind in school).

What is the purpose of a compact?

In order for children to reach school standards, they need support from all the adults in their lives. Teachers have the important job of instructing students. Other school staff contribute to making the school a place where children can learn. Parents have the equally important job of providing a safe, healthy, and caring home that supports learning. The compact lists the specific duties of school staff, students and parents. With a compact, everybody knows what they are supposed to do and what others are supposed to do. It helps everyone keep on track in support of students. Compacts are reviewed together at the Fall conferences.

Annual Title I Meeting

Parents will be invited to an annual Title I Fall meeting to discuss Title I program supports and all aspects of the Title I program. Parents will be informed of instructional focus and supports available in the building. The Title I/LAP Family
Handbook will be made available to our families at Family Literacy Night and Fall Conferences.

Parent Volunteers

Stevenson and Carson Elementary Schools welcome parent volunteers! Each year we have many volunteers in classrooms, on field trips, and at special events. The Stevenson-Carson School District has hired a Family and Community Engagement Coordinator this year. We are looking forward to increasing family involvement and participation. If you have an interest in volunteering, please provide your information on the volunteer application that may be obtained in the elementary office.

COMPLAINT OPTIONS: DISCRIMINATION AND SEXUAL HARASSMENT

If you believe that you or your child have experienced unlawful discrimination, discriminatory harassment, or sexual harassment at school, you have the right to file a complaint.

Before filing a complaint, you can discuss your concerns with your child’s principal or with the school district’s superintendent who is also the Section 504 Coordinator, Title IX Officer, and Civil Rights Coordinator, who are listed above. This is often the fastest way to revolve your concerns.

Complaint to the School District

Step 1. Write Our Your Complaint
In most cases, complaints must be filed within one year from the date of the incident or conduct that is the subject of the complaint. A complaint must be in writing. Be sure to describe the conduct or incident, explain why you believe discrimination, discriminatory harassment, or sexual harassment has taken place, and describe what actions you believe the district should take to resolve the problem. Send your written complaint—by mail, fax, email, or hand delivery—to the district superintendent/civil rights compliance coordinator.

Step 2: School District Investigates Your Complaint
Once the district receives your written complaint, the coordinator will give you a copy of the complaint procedure and make sure a prompt and thorough investigation takes place. The superintendent or designee will respond to you in writing within 30 calendar days—unless you agree on a different time period. If your complaint involves exceptional circumstances that demand a lengthier investigation, the district will notify you in writing to explain why staff need a time extension and the new date for their written response.

Step 3: School District Responds to Your Complaint
In its written response, the district will include a summary of the results of the investigation, a determination of whether or not the district failed to comply with civil rights laws, notification that you can appeal this determination, and any measures necessary to bring the district into compliance with civil rights laws. Corrective measures will be put into effect within 30 calendar days after this written response—unless you agree to a different time period.

Appeal to the School District
If you disagree with the school district’s decision, you may appeal to the school district’s board of directors. You must file a notice of appeal in writing to the secretary of the school board within 10 calendar days after you received the school district’s response to your complaint. The school board will schedule a hearing within 20 calendar days after they received your appeal, unless you agree on a different timeline. The school board will send you a written decision within 30 calendar days after the district received your notice of appeal. The school board’s decision will include information about how to file a complaint with the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI).

Complaint to OSPI
If you do not agree with the school district’s appeal decision, state law provides the option to file a formal complaint with the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI). This is a separate complaint process that can take place if one of these two conditions has occurred: (1) you have completed the district’s complaint and appeal process, or (2) the district has not followed the complaint and appeal process correctly.

You have 20 calendar days to file a complaint to OSPI from the day you received the decision on your appeal. You can send your written complaint to the Equity and Civil Rights Office at OSPI:
